

Hoover To Be Given His Way In Conduct Of Commerce Dept.

Former Food Administrator and President-Elect Agree on Policies.

WALLACE GETS FARM POST
Iowa Editor Will Be Secretary of Agriculture, Harding Announces.

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Augustine, Fla.—President-elect Harding Friday announced that Herbert Hoover had been appointed secretary of commerce and Henry Wallace secretary of agriculture in his cabinet.

This brings the total of official cabinet announcements to four, the appointment to Charles Evans Hughes as secretary of state and Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general having already been made known.

Harding said that although Hoover was at liberty to announce his own selection, he had thought best to hold the announcement in reserve until Friday.

"We are in perfect accord as to what department ought to be made," Harding said discussing Hoover's plan for reorganizing the department of commerce.

"Mr. Hoover very properly and very gratifyingly first inquired as to policies."

Regarding appointment of Wallace as secretary of agriculture, Harding said that "unless there are some unlooked for arrangements, I have a strong suspicion Mr. Wallace will serve in that capacity."

Reorganize Department
New York—So completely are President-elect Harding and Herbert Hoover in accordance on the proper functions of the department of commerce that the traditional personal conference will be dispensed with, it was learned Friday.

Instead of going to Florida, the former food administrator will devote the interim before taking up his official duties in Washington to turning over the subordinates all of his international charity activities with the exception of the American relief administration which he will continue to direct.

The conditions upon which Hoover accepted the appointment include: Complete reorganization of the department, extending its scope so as to include supervision of foreign commerce and virtual control of the United States shipping board.

Free rein in administration of the department.

Complete cooperation from other executive departments.

Elimination of all "red tape."

Hoover's associates pointed out that the carrying out of his plans would mean raising the department of commerce from practical obscurity to one of the most important posts in the cabinet.

GERMAN PLANES NO GOOD, EXPERT SAYS

Postoffice Department Will Discontinue Use of All Metal Airships.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Use of German all-metal planes has been discontinued by the aerial mail service of the postoffice department, John A. Jordan, chief constructor of the service, told the house postoffice committee Friday.

The department, he revealed, bought eight planes for $200,000 from a German manufacturer believing they were fireproof but three of them have been destroyed by fire. Jordan explained that the vibration on a metal plane is so much greater than on one of wood and fabric that leaks in the gas and oil lines are caused.

The committee inquired into the recent mail accident on the Minneapolis-Chicago route at La Crosse, Wis., where three men were killed.

"The committee investigating the accident came to the conclusion that the plane caught fire while in air," said Jordan.

"Although this could not be proved conclusively, we do know that the oil and gas lines of the plane were leaking and have come to the conclusion that the gasoline was ignited by heat."

START CAMPAIGN TO DRIVE OUT GAMBLERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—The state attorney's office today planned to rid Chicago of gambling following indictment returned yesterday against eight Chicago men, said to be kings of chance.

Mont Tennes, alleged chief of the national handbook "syndicate," and known for many years as the "handbook king" of the midwest, and J. L. Morelock, manager of the General News bureau, alleged to be the central station for distribution of handbook information, were among those indicted.

The men are charged with conspiracy under the old common law procedure.

SINN FEIN AMBUSH KILLS 11 OFFICERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Dublin—Eleven auxiliary police were killed Friday in a Sinn Fein ambush at Macroom, county Cork, it was officially announced.

Official reports described the ambush as the biggest yet attempted.

A large number of police was in the party traveling by lorries when they were fired upon from the roadside. The officer in command was reported to have been the first to fall.

The police fought back but were unable to find cover. Reserves were rushed out later.

SINN FEIN WORSE THAN SAVAGES, BRITON AVERS

Dublin—"Acts such as would not be indulged in by the wildest savages in central Africa" were charged against the Sinn Fein Friday by General MacRedmond.

The military commander in Ireland, appealing to his forces to maintain discipline despite provocative acts, said five unarmed soldiers were killed this week—three at Woodford and two at Bandon.

"Undoubtedly these were deliberate attempts to provoke the soldiery to acts of reprisal and provide ammunition for scurrilous propaganda at home and abroad," the general declared.

WANT ANOTHER VOTE ON STATE BONE DRY BILL

Calumet County Assemblyman Asks Reconsideration of Matheson Bill.

MARQUETTE LOSES FIGHT
LaFollette Followers Change Vote and Kill Bar Exams for U. W. Grads.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, Wis.—Reconsideration of the Matheson prohibition enforcement bill was moved on the floor of the assembly Friday by George J. Schwabach, Appleton, member from Calumet county, and it was made a special order of business for Thursday, March 3.

"At the same time, it became known an agreement had been reached between the dry leaders and certain of the objectors to the Matheson bill to incorporate the Cook amendment into the measure when it was considered in the senate."

The Cook amendment strikes from the bill certain sections conferring broad and drastic inquisitorial powers upon district attorneys and enforcement agents.

The agreement came at the suggestion of R. P. Hutton superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, and A. E. Matheson, author of the bill. The adoption of the Cook amendment will materially increase the dry majority for the bill in the house when it comes up for final passage, according to dry leaders.

The advocates of the Cook amendment made a strong fight in the assembly. During the debate, Hutton, representing the Anti-Saloon league, sent word to Matheson, who was leading the debate for the bill, to accept the amendment.

Matheson refused to do so, he said, because it would interfere with the legislative program planned for the day. However, he informed Dahl, Cook and others Friday that he would recommend the Cook amendment in the senate.

Change of Heart

The assembly Friday morning reversed itself upon reconsideration of the bill requiring law graduates from the University of Wisconsin to take the state bar examinations.

LaFollette followers led by Assemblyman Olson, who had supported the contents of Marquette university, changed their votes and the bill was killed by a vote of 49 to 39.

Some interesting political developments, it was intimated, are behind the change in front. John Dahl, administration floor leader, did not join in the reversal, voting against indefinite postponement of the bill.

The assembly adopted the Dahl joint resolution permitting a valid verdict by juries if supported by ten jurors, by a vote of 73 to 13. The resolution calls for a constitutional amendment allowing valid verdicts in civil cases only if five-sixths of the jurors agree.

The Lamb bill allowing county boards to use their option in the employment of registered nurses for welfare work was referred to the committee on public welfare. The state affairs committee had reported the bill on for favorable passage. The measure is being hotly opposed by organized women's clubs to the state and a fight on the engrossment of the bill is anticipated.

Wants Vote Counted

The Milwaukee rent board emergency appropriation of $10,000 was passed by the assembly by a vote of 62 to 24. This bill was the subject of much debate when it made its first appearance.

Assemblymen Summerville, Catlin and Atcherson entered objections Friday to be recorded as not voting on the Matheson bill Thursday.

The voting machine went wrong, they charged. Speaker Young could think of no way to properly record their votes, he said.

$300,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE IN MILWAUKEE

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee.—Damage estimated at $300,000 was caused by a fire of unknown origin which swept the building occupied by the Ellsworth and Thayer manufacturing company, makers of gloves and sheepskin clothing, here late Thursday night.

Firemen fought the fire until early Friday.

The fire was discovered by a watchman who turned in an alarm. Upon arrival of fire companies, two additional alarms were turned in.

Firemen rescued a family of four living on the second floor of an adjoining building.

The Ellsworth and Thayer company estimated their damage at $200,000 while the building, a total wreck, was valued at $75,000.

Smoke and water damage estimated at $25,000 was suffered by adjoining firms.

QUEBEC DAMS FLOW OF LIQUOR INTO AMERICA

By United Press Leased Wire
Quebec.—The new Quebec liquor bill which will make this province the largest liquor dealer in the world and tend to dam the flow of alcohol into American territory, was submitted to Lieutenant Governor Fitzpatrick Friday for his signature.

Fitzpatrick was expected to sign the bill, making it a law.

Society Has No Appeal For "Mrs. Secretaries"

By Ralph F. Couch
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Biscuit making, pany raising, good roads building, metal raising, education and child development, rather than "society" will constitute the dominant interests of the feminine portion of the Harding cabinet.

Inquiry by the United Press Friday revealed that while the "Mrs. secretaries" and their families possess all the qualifications necessary to social success the natural inclinations of most of them are distinctly "homey" or vocational.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Harding the social side of official life in Washington is expected to show more gaiety than at any time since the Roosevelt administration because of her proven ability as a hostess, but the feeling is growing that the hopes of those who counted upon a continuous four years' round of pleasure will be dashed.

Taking the departmental poets in order of their rank, the cabinet ladies present the following pictures:

STATE: Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes—Wellesley graduate. One of her three children, Katherine, also an alumnus of that college. Mrs. Hughes is conservative, has simple tastes and is more devoted to educational work than society.

TRASURY: Andrew W. Mellon, unmarried.

WAR: Mrs. John W. Weeks—She has been extremely popular in the Washington social set for many years and is considered one of the most cultured women in the capital. She is a member of several clubs, is fond of bridge and is widely traveled.

VICTIM'S BROTHER DESCRIBES MURDER

Attempt Is Made to Inject Industrial Issue in Matewan Trial.

By J. F. Reaman
Williamson, W. Va.—Thomas E. Felts, brother of two of the ten victims of the battle of Matewan last May, Friday faced 15 men being tried for the murder of Albert C. Felts.

Felts, as head of the detective agency whose evictions of striking coal miners prompted the fatal fight, was called to the stand by the state.

"Do you charge any of these defendants with taking a ring or anything else from your brother Albert?" J. J. Coniff asked the witness.

"No, I don't say that they stole, positively, but I have information Sid Hatfield had a ring when he was locked in jail in Huntington and he pawned the ring there," Felts said.

"Is that the basis of the charge that Sid Hatfield took the ring?" Coniff demanded.

"It is very strong suspicion, isn't it?"

An attempt to inject the industrial issue was made by Coniff.

"The sole purpose of these evictions was to oust the people from their homes and make it so inconvenient for the men that they would have to return to work and the strike would be ended," Coniff asked.

Strenuous objections were raised by state attorneys and sustained by the court.

Albert Hoskins, one of the state material witnesses followed Felts on the stand.

TRIMMED COWBOY'S BEARD; WAR RESULTS

Fort Collins, Colo.—Following a threatened invasion of Colorado and Wyoming cowboys to avenge a comrade's mistreatment at the hands of Colorado Agricultural college students here, this city was quiet Friday after a night of hostilities.

The trouble started over "Mustang Jack" Vermilya, veteran Montana cow puncher with a 6-inch flowing mustache.

"Mustang Jack" is wintering in Fort Collins. College students captured him one night last week and cut off the tenuous pride of Montana.

Last night "Mustang Jack" without the mustache but with a large following of cowboys gave battle to a score of students.

A broken jaw, fractured collar bone and internal injuries were among the casualties.

Police reserves and the fire department answered the riot call.

"Mustang Jack" declares he has reinforcement coming from Wyoming ranches and preparations are being made for another skirmish.

BADGER BILL FACTORY IS SHORT OF FUNDS

Madison, Wis.—Governor Blaine has asked an immediate appropriation to the law reference library to expedite drafting of legislative bills.

The library needs additional employees to draft bills now introduced by title only. Dr. Charles McCarty, head of the library, has asked $2,000 additional funds to hurry the work.

The senate judiciary has failed to report out the initiative referendum and recall bills nor has it taken action on Senator Czerwinski's bill for additional compensation for legislators.

GREEKS PROTEST CHANGE IN TREATY

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Turkish representatives Friday accepted the allied proposal that the Sevres treaty should be accepted while an international investigation is made of rival claims to Smyrna and eastern Thrace.

Greek delegates refused to accept the proposal until they had received instructions from Athens.

London.—Driving the allied supreme council along with all his energy, Premier Lloyd George cleared the way Friday for receiving the German delegates here Monday to discuss reparations.

Settlement of the Near East situation, thus far occupying the council's time, was to be delayed, according to the premier's plans Friday. When two Turkish delegations and the Greek representatives appeared they were to be asked to accept the Sevres treaty with assurance that a commission will be appointed to investigate the possibility of returning parts of Thrace and Smyrna to Turkey.

Hints of the council's probable action reached the Greeks early Friday. There was immediate protest.

"Greece is aching for peace," the spokesman declared, "but we will fight. We will make new Greek history if necessary to protect our countrymen in Asia Minor."

"Still we are confident the allies will recognize the principles of democracy and refuse to revise the Sevres treaty. We have been brought here to talk with rebels but we will accept no changes in the treaty whatever."

"We will yield only to a vastly superior force. No economic action by the allies can bend us."

The British press generally showed resentment at the demands of the two delegations.

U. S. PROTEST ON YAP BASED ON CABLE RIGHT

America Doesn't Want Japan to Gain Control of Pacific Cables.

MAY GET BRITISH SUPPORT
Internationalization of Pacific Cable Station Is Uncle Sam's Aim.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921

Washington—The United States government demands freedom of cable communication across the Pacific to the far east and insists that the important way station on the small island of Yap shall not be given to Japan by the League of Nations.

The American government in its latest note, the exact text of which has not yet been made public, does not ask that Yap be given to the United States but that the island be internationalized so that it will always be under the joint control of the great powers, Great Britain, the United States, France and Japan.

The United States contends that Japan never had any right under international law to seize the trans-Pacific cable at Yap and that the status which existed before the war shall be restored. Back of the entire question of cable communication through the island of Yap is a greater and even more involved controversy over the cutting of the German cables in the Atlantic. The American companies contend that both England and France have seized these Atlantic cables unlawfully and are today depriving the people of the United States of direct cable communication which is so important to commercial intercourse with Germany and Central Europe.

In other words, England and France have a reason to be sympathetic with the Japanese viewpoint rather than the American so far as the legality of the seizure of cables is concerned but England and France on the other hand have to decide whether they too will maintain communication with their own interests in the far east only by having most of their message pass through Japanese territory.

The island of Yap is really worthless except as a place for a cable landing because the distances in the Pacific are so great that to reach the far East, the cables are landed first at Honolulu then the island of Midway, then Guam, and finally Yap, where the northward cable goes to Shanghai and the southward cable goes to the Dutch East Indies by way of the Philippines. Should Japan get control of the island of Yap, it would be free to refuse permission for a landing of any cable except one owned by Japanese interests and could thus practically compel the sale of the north end of the present cable to the Japanese.

Whoever gets possession of the island of Yap gets the key to trans-Pacific cable communication. The United States is not anxious for that control itself but merely wants to have Yap internationalized so that no nation can have an undue advantage. Indeed, the stock of the Commercial Pacific Cable company is owned partly by the Mackay companies, partly by Danish and British interests, although according to Mr. Mackay's own statement, the company "stands" in respect to the United States government and public as purely American in its operations as if every dollar of its stock were provided by American capital."

The decision of the assembly of the League of Nations to approve the mandate giving the island of Yap to Japan is of course not binding upon the United States as mandates must also be approved by the council of the league. Unfortunately for this incident, the United States while a member of the council under the treaty of Versailles has not taken her place in the council so the question is yet to be determined whether unanimous action can be taken with America absent. Meanwhile the department of state has sent its note merely to conserve American rights and give Secretary of State Hughes a free hand after March 4 to deal with the situation as he deems wise.

HURLEY'S RIVAL IS CLOSED BY RUM ARMY

Detroit, Mich.—Thirty-five federal prohibition agents from Chicago, assisted by local officers, swooped down upon Ecorse, a suburb of Detroit, at midnight last night and arrested 25 men, confiscated 300 cases of whisky and seized a valuable launch.

Ecorse for months has been a rival of the famous Hurley, Wis., for honors as the most wide open village and since prohibition hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of liquor has been smuggled across the Detroit river into Ecorse.

CONGRESS LINES
UP FOR LAST BIG FIGHT OF SESSION

Army and Navy Appropriation Measures Renew Cry of Economy.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The house Friday refused by a vote of 182 to 193 to accept the senate amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill appropriating $10,000,000 for completion of the government nitrate plant dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

This followed a bitter floor fight during which the project which has been a storm center throughout this and preceding congresses, was both praised and attacked.

Washington—The last big fight of this congressional session—involving America's future preparedness for war as well as her foreign policy—was about to start in the senate Friday.

Cause for the battle lay in the army and navy appropriation bills. Consideration of the army bill began Friday.

Opposition to the bills came from two sources:

1—Senators who are demanding financial retrenchment and point out that an army bill of $362,214,806 and a navy bill of $496,023,130 miss widely the mark of economy.

2—Other elements led by Senator Borah who declare that world conditions demand steps toward disarmament. This group has announced it will insist on a "show down" in the disarmament question, asserting that world would doubt America's willingness to disarm if the two appropriation bills were passed in their present state.

Senator Borah served notice Friday that he would move to suspend the rules that he might amend the naval bill with calls for a disarmament conference. As a result of the fight which leaders said they would wage to the end, one of the appropriation bills may fail to pass this session of congress.

Knowledge that President-elect Harding had let it be known he held no opposition to Borah's resolution for a disarmament conference seemed to strengthen the hand of the Idaho senator.

Opposition to the army bill will be based partly on efforts to cut the personnel of the house figure of 150,000 in place of the 175,000 provided in the senate bill which carries with it an increased appropriation for the army pay of $17,000,000.

COTTON ACREAGE TO BE CUT IN HALF

Surplus Production in 1920 and Low Prices Halts Cotton Planting.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Cotton acreage throughout the world is to be reduced an average of 50 per cent next season if present plans are carried out, it was learned Friday.

Confronted by falling prices and an enormous surplus, American planters expect a decreased acreage of 20 to 25 per cent. The Egyptian acreage has been reduced 66 per cent and a substantial cut has been made in the east Indies. Prices, however, "are about as low as they will go for the present," in the opinion of Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance and an authority on cotton.

"Low cotton, particularly the low grades, is selling now far below cost of production," he said.

"Radical curtailment of acreage next year is almost certain. The surplus of American crop remaining unsold at the end of the present season will be more or less hypothetical in that while there will be no doubt of its existence, it will not be pressed for sale."

Price referred to the fact that hypothetical prices in 1914-15 when the world's markets were generally closed by the war, was fully as large as that in prospect now and added that "many of the greatest bull movements in cotton have had their inception in bearish conditions that were quite as inauspicious as the statistical situation today."

LITTLE HOPE FOR CHANGE IN MANDATE

Paris—The league of nations council Friday dropped all consideration of the American mandate notes until instructions have been received from the various governments.

Every delegate cabled to his government complete accounts of the American protests against assignment of the Yap mandate to Japan and the Mesopotamian mandate to Great Britain.

A note will be sent to the United States when instructions have been received. A. J. Balfour, Great Britain's foreign secretary, is now at work on the preliminary draft.

It was believed the council will claim it has no right to reconsideration on the Yap mandate, unless the allied supreme council should decide it won't beyond its rights in the assignment.

"Since all acts of the council must be ordered by unanimous vote, it is believed certain reconsideration will be blocked by Baron Ishii, Japanese delegate."

SLEEPING DISEASE CLAIMS BUCHANAN WOMAN AS VICTIM

Mrs. Peter Jackels Dies in Hospital Here From Strange Malady.

The first real case of sleeping sickness in Fox River valley so far as is known is that of Mrs. Peter Jackels, 45, of the town of Buchanan, who died in St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday. She was taken ill with the disease ten days ago and was taken to the hospital from her home on Kimberly road a few days later.

Dr. C. C. Macos of Kimberly, who attended the patient, said that while the disease was new to this part of the country it has been in existence in the east and in foreign countries for several years. The cause of it has never been definitely determined.

The early symptoms are much the same as grip, the most pronounced feature being a double vision, or seeing two objects instead of one. The nerves and muscles also become affected. The patient becomes sleepy as the sickness progresses.

Drowsiness first overtakes the patient which soon develops into a sound sleep from which the patient is aroused with difficulty. At first he may be able to walk a few steps and take food, but soon relapses if permitted.

In the advance stage the lungs fill with fluid and death soon follows. Several cases have been reported in this vicinity during the winter, but none has been of a serious nature.

Mrs. Jackels is survived by her husband and four children, Mattie, Rosa, Marie and Joseph.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FROM WEYAUWEGA

Long Shot in Last Minute of Game Gives Victory to Local Quintet.

In a close and exciting game, Appleton high school basketball team defeated Weyauwega high school Thursday evening at Weyauwega, 18 to 16. The winning basket was made by Laughlin with one minute to play. Appleton continued to lead the scoring almost continuously and it was only in the last five minutes of play that the team was able to hold the Weyauwega team.

The floor was fairly large but very slippery which put Coach Vincent's men at a disadvantage. In spite of that fact it remained for Appleton to make the first basket. Following that score, the Weyauwega players made up three baskets in the next five minutes. At the end of the first half each team was credited with five baskets.

Weyauwega high school players put the ball through three times in the early part of the second period, and then held Appleton till only eight minutes of play were left. Their center had the jump on Laughlin and it was only by watching the play and reacting to defensive playing that the local boys were able to make headway. In the next five minutes Briese caged two baskets and Bloomer made one and the score was tied. With about one minute to play, Laughlin made the winning marker on a long-shot for the goal.

The lineup: Laughlin, center; Briese, Johnson and Zussman, forwards; Bloomer and Stedman, guards.

SAYS COMMUNITY SCHOOL IS SUCCESS

Registration for Community Training School Will Close Monday Night.

Counter attractions on the first two class nights of the community training school have not detracted from interest of attendance in the school, according to Prof. E. E. Emme, director. A free band concert was the attraction the first night and the Athens Pops was the attraction on the second class night. Mr. Emme believes the school will be a great success and worthwhile results will be achieved.

"It is an usual occurrence to see parents, public and church school teachers, young people, all registered in the same classes and preparing to take the examination in the course for credit," Mr. Emme said. "In some classes you can see parent and child, minister and layman working together—all for the reason of preparing for a more competent leadership along the lines of moral and religious education."

Next Monday night will be the last opportunity to register. A number of the churches, in a friendly rivalry, are realizing that this week is their last chance to show their direct interest in this year's school, which naturally is a showing of their interest in the larger community movement for religious education in Appleton. The Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches have practically the same number enrolled with the Baptists not far behind. Next week the final results will be announced. Registration should be made at 715 Monday evening in Main hall of the college.

One of the important features of the school is the 20-minute general assembly period following the first hour classes. For the next few weeks various types of week-day schools of religion will be explained such as are working in Toledo, Gary, Evanston, Oak Park and East Chicago. The churches have been urged to have representatives at these sessions so information regarding these schools shall reach as many Appleton people as possible. The aim back of these studies is to lay an intelligent foundation for week-day religious instruction in Appleton.

KUYPERS IS SPEAKER AT 4TH DEGREE K. C. MEET

John H. Kuypers of DePere was the speaker at the meeting of the fourth degree assembly of the Knights of Columbus in K. of C. hall Thursday evening. His subject was "Historical Places in the Fox River Valley."

Interesting facts from the early missionary activity in the valley were told by Mr. Kuypers. He said that a Catholic church was built in DePere as early as 1851 and burned down several years later. Other important events in the religious upbuilding of his locality were described.

Several guests from neighboring councils attended. The visitors included P. Ryan Duffy and P. H. Martin, Fond du Lac; Henry F. Sutton, Green Bay, and W. H. Wittmann, Kaukauna. Supper was served previous to the meeting.

5 PERSONS HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS OVER IN MENASHA

Driver Loses Control of Machine While Trying to Pass Another Car.

Ben Ross of New London, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Werch and their two sons, aged 3 and 4, of Oshkosh, were painfully injured shortly after 5 o'clock Thursday evening when the Ford touring car in which they were riding overturned and landed bottom side up on the concrete sidewalk at the Menasha end of the Appleton road. No one saw the accident but according to information given by the occupants of the car, Ben Ross, who was driving, lost control as he was in the act of getting the machine back to the road after passing a car going toward Appleton.

The Ford shot directly across the road and landed in the ditch, turning over on the concrete sidewalk. When it stopped turning the car was facing in the direction of Appleton. Mr. and Mrs. Werch, who moved about three weeks ago to Oshkosh, spent Thursday with relatives in Appleton and they were on their way home with Mr. Ross.

The injured were taken to Theda Clark hospital in Neenah. Mr. Ross received a severe scalp cut but he was able to leave the hospital. Mr. Werch's right shoulder was fractured and his scalp was lacerated. Mrs. Werch was badly bruised about the right side of her body and her scalp was injured and both boys were badly cut about their heads.

CLASSMATES HONOR WAR HERO'S MEMORY

William Heiss Memorial Contest Arranged by Graduates of Class of 1916.

To honor the memory of William Heiss, graduate of the Appleton high school in 1916, who was killed in the world war, members of his class are instituting a "William Heiss" memorial contest. It will consist of orations by members of the Junior and senior classes in the high school. The contest will be held annually on March 23, the birthday anniversary of Mr. Heiss.

G. E. Watson of the class of '16, explained the plan to the student body of the high school Friday morning during general assembly period. A general committee of 1916 graduates who are in the city will promote the contest every year. A member of the committee will explain the purpose of the contest so that those who take part in it and those who listen will not forget what it is being held for.

William Heiss was a leader of his class during his entire life in the school and those who remain feel that it is only proper to show their appreciation for the service he rendered. It is stipulated that the contestants choose subjects of world or national interest because that is what Heiss was most interested in. A silver loving cup will be given every year to be retained permanently by the winner of the contest.

Thieves entered the garage on Fred Brockman's farm, town of Buchanan, and stole the batteries from his automobile. The front door of the building was unlocked, but the thieves either were unaware of this or did not want to show themselves. Mr. Brockman says he had a clue to the identity of the thieves.

STATE AID FOR SCHOOLS

According to Carter Alexander, assistant state superintendent of schools, Wisconsin is the lowest of five north central states in the amount of state aid given to public school systems. The comparison is made with Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Minnesota. In the case of Ohio four times the amount of state aid is extended and in Michigan twice the amount.

It is understood that a bill to increase the state tax for the common schools will be introduced in the present session of the legislature and Governor Blaine is scheduled to submit a message on the subject of education. State support of the public schools is of special value to the more sparsely settled and less wealthy districts, enabling them to provide better educational facilities than they would be able to if limited to local taxation.

The manner of distributing state money to schools is of great importance, authorities on the subject agreeing that it should be allotted on certain conditions which automatically provide for the improvement of facilities, maximum attendance, a high standard of curriculum, transportation, buildings, libraries and adequate pay for teachers.

The past year has witnessed a general dissemination of Wisconsin's educational problems and public attention has been focused upon a situation which is far from satisfactory. There is widespread recognition of the fact that comprehensive measures must be adopted for the betterment of our schools. Rural schools in particular are in need of constructive treatment and development. The consolidation of district schools in the country and provision for rural high schools are two of the chief aims to be attained.

Liberal enlightenment touching Wisconsin schools has had the effect in recent months of crystallizing opinion in favor of a concrete program for educational advancement. There is no doubt but what the people will view with approval legislative action to raise our schools to a higher level, and we may expect to see during the next few years greater attention given to school affairs by counties and municipalities. It is to be hoped that the legislature at the present session will take steps looking to more substantial financial provision for education. This would be an incentive to local authorities to cooperate and should help to inaugurate policies the ultimate result of which will be to place greater educational opportunities at the disposal of every boy and girl in Wisconsin.

THE BABY'S CHANCE

How industrial conditions affect a baby's chance of living beyond its first year is described in a report on "Infant Mortality in New Bedford" issued by the children's bureau of the department of labor. Unskilled and semi-skilled occupations predominate in the cotton industry, and at the time the survey was made, wages were low. A low income was accompanied, as in other industrial cities studied by the bureau, by poor home sanitation, congestion, lack of adequate medical care, and a mother who was overworked, either in the factory or at home. Over half of the New Bedford babies lived in the river section where the worst living conditions in the city were to be found. There families of from 15 to 18, including lodgers, were in many cases crowded together in five room tenements.

Practically all the mothers working in the cotton mills of New Bedford were in families where the father earned less than the amount necessary to maintain a decent standard of living. Almost half of all the mothers were gainfully employed, chiefly in the cotton mills, during the year before the baby was born, and two-fifths during the year following the baby's birth. Most of these mothers worked during both periods. The harmful results of depriving a young baby of its mother's care and nursing is shown in the fact that among the babies whose mothers left them to go out to work when the baby was less than four months old, the mortality was nearly twice the average rate.

The low income group showed a high mortality rate while the group having incomes sufficient to insure proper care and surroundings for the mothers and babies had a low mortality rate. In the low wage group twenty babies out of every hundred born alive died before the end of the first year. In the highest wage group only six out of every hundred died. Still there are some persons who feel that health center work is unimportant and that low-wage industries present no problem save that of strife between employer and employee. Eventually if employers do not pay a living wage the state will compel them to.

THE RAILROAD GUARANTEE

The senate has passed the Winslow bill directing the secretary of the treasury to honor certificates of the Interstate Commerce commission for partial payment of amounts due the railroads under the guarantee provisions of the transportation act. These payments will aggregate approximately the sum of $340,000,000, and they will be made in the near future, provided the act is approved by President Wilson.

Regardless of what opinion may be as to the justice of the railroad guarantee by the government, the fact remains that it was given and that it must be discharged in good faith. Partial payment of the guarantee at this time will be of special value to the railroads because it will aid many of them in the settlement of outstanding accounts and the making of new commitments for material. It will also be of substantial benefit to the general credit situation.

Inasmuch as the obligation of the government must be fulfilled it is expedient that it should be done at a time when it will be of value to transportation. December earnings by the railroads continued disappointing and reflect the traffic slump which resulted in a surplus of 323,376 freight cars for the week ending January 29th, the latest period for which data are available. This is said to be the largest number of idle cars reported by the railroads in the United States in ten years.

With the industrial and business resumption which is now in progress we may expect an improvement in the railway situation in the next three months, but it will be some time before earnings, even with the high rates now in effect, are sufficient to take care of betterments. The questions of wages and efficiency in railroad operation, while pertinent to the ultimate solution of the rail problem, are extraneous to the existing emergency, which the government, it would appear, can materially relieve by partial payment of the guarantee.

THE RAT MENACE

There are estimated to be fifty million rats in the United States. They are eating food at the rate of $50,000,000 a year.

The guinea-pigs of Ellis Butler's story have nothing on the rat when it comes to fecundity. It is a good thing nobody tries today to ship a pair by express unless red tape has been cut since the day that Mr. Butler's characters made the experiment.

Anyway, the biological survey warns people against the depredation and the expense incurred to the public by the common rat.

Rats are disease carriers. Typhus and bubonic plague have been transmitted by them. Cooperative efforts to stamp out the rat plague are recommended by the survey, which also emphasizes the use of barium carbonate as an effective poison now easily obtainable.

THE STATE OF LINCOLN

A new state—Lincoln—may be placed on the U. S. map if Congress views with favor the Idaho disunion petition proposed in the Idaho Legislature. Northern Idaho has asked the Legislature that state to memorialize Congress in behalf of a new state, which is to include the Idaho panhandle, and possibly the western portion of Washington.

The petitioners want the new state to be named Lincoln.

Spokane and Lewiston are suggested as possible locations for the capital. Just recently the Pocatello chamber of commerce gave its approval to the new state movement. This is the first time it has met with favor in southern Idaho.

The northern part of Idaho is closely connected with Spokane, more closely, in fact, than Spokane and eastern Washington are in touch with the western part of that state.

If there is to be a new state no better name could be given it than Lincoln.

Exactly 162 future lawyers are now in training in the Law school of the University of Wisconsin.

Public school records show that at least four persons in every thousand stutter.

WINTER ITCH

This is the time when a lot of well washed folks, too well washed in many instances, find almost endless pleasure in the boudoir pastime of scratching themselves. If they had to do this entirely with the left elbow and the itching were limited to the region behind the right ear, I don't know but what I'd come out for soap myself, for certain it is that the one thing followers of this indoor winter sport most sorely need and seldom want is exercise. There are two distinct varieties of cleanliness. Clean cleanliness is an internal matter; dirty cleanliness is something less than skin deep.

People who find themselves scratching yet have nothing visible the matter with the skin, should give the bath tub a well earned rest. And I may add that the less victims of winter itch have to do with soap the better. In this malarial pruritis or winter itch the skin shows no rash or eruption, unless some marks are produced by scratching. But the skin is abnormally dry and often rough. It lacks oil, it lacks moisture. It is a skin parched by indoor life in a climate drier than that of a desert by actual test. The more one bathes the more intolerable heat is required to keep one comfortable in cold weather, and thus in the home where the temperature is kept soaring abnormally high, and with a few degrees too much heat, from any source, it is practically impossible to maintain a reasonable humidity in the atmosphere. The remedy which fits from every point of view is clean cleanliness, and this is obtained through sufficient general exercise every day to maintain a fairly good metabolism—and I see I'm not going to have room to stop now and explain all over what metabolism is.

Well, much against my better inclination, it behooves me now to bring on the medicine. One of the best (paying) patients I ever had was an old gentleman who was deaf but not so deaf as his wife, and when I passed my daily visit and the wife as they will, soon knew—surpassed too much of my attention, the old boy would suppress her by calling out "The medicine! The medicine!" Whereupon the good woman would break off to run and find the medicine, and then we could talk.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sisters Will Be Sisters

Will you kindly settle a dispute between my sister and me. We are 24 and 22 years old and go out with young men quite often. My sister smokes cigarettes with them, but usually the young men do not call again after the first two or three times, and I've noticed that if we meet them again they seem to want to dodge us. I tell sister it is because they are disgusted. She says it is because they are cheap, and that all high class people smoke. Is that true? (Alberta.)

ANSWER—It is not true. It is the other way—you will find that the cheap sports are the ones who smoke cigarettes and offer them to girls who care to associate with that type of near-men. But even a cheap sport respects a girl who respects herself.

The Milk and Egg Habit

I have been told that an egg beaten with milk and taken three or four times a day, before meals, will be very beneficial, strengthening and fattening a person with a run down constitution. What do you say about it? (W. C. B.)

ANSWER—Egg and milk is an unpalatable mixture, to most tastes, and if not palatable it is not food. Either is a good wholesome food. The egg is more completely digested if taken cooked. I think it would be better for that may impair the appetite for better foods, like bread and butter, vegetables, etc. So far as we know, neither egg nor milk nor both combined is more strengthening than other foods. A run down constitution is scarcely attributable to insufficient food, in this country.

To Soften Callus

What would you recommend for the removal of a hard, painful callus from the ball of the foot? It resembles a huge corn.

ANSWER—Paint it each night with a solution of thirty grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of liquid collodion. It will soften and be easily wiped away in a week or so. Your shoes probably are too narrow or too tight. Often a shoe with a wide toe when the transverse arch of the foot is flattened, and in that case an oval felt pad should be worn over the callus.

Women In League

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City—There still exists today a popular superstition that women are traitors.

Haskin

the business and industrial worlds, and the city is filled with feminine clubs and societies whose sole object is the assistance or promotion of their own sex.

One of the most interesting of these is an organization of working girls, known as the Girls Service League, which is dedicated to the aid and protection of girls who work. Every girl on its membership list is constantly on the lookout for signs of distress or unhappiness among her friends and acquaintances. When Laura, the landlady's daughter, suddenly falls into deep depression, or when Katie comes to the factory with eyes red from weeping, the G. S. L. member does not remain an innocent bystander. Usually, she puts a tactful arm around Laura or Katie, and says: "Say, Kid, if there's anything wrong, come on up to the club and talk it over with our Secretary."

The League has two club-houses in different sections of the city, each possessing a free dormitory of some 12 or 15 beds, and an employment agency. Girls who are stranded in New York are welcome to the club's hospitality at any time of the day or night. Girls rescued from various dangers and delinquencies by social workers of the New York Probation and Protective Association are also taken in at the clubhouses. Those who need medical care are sent to a hospital or clinic; those who are out of work are found jobs through the club employment agencies, and others, whose condition demands it, are sent to a convalescent home in the country.

The League's club-houses are large and cheerful, with book-cases full of good books; a piano and Victrola, and many games, including draughts and checkers. The girls are privileged to entertain their young men friends here on several nights a week, while every Saturday night a club dance is given. Lectures on health and thrift and working conditions also take place every so often, to which parents as well as the girls are often invited.

The objects of the League, as set forth in its constitution, are as follows: To protect girls from moral danger. To promote moral education. To encourage right thinking and clean conversation. To improve conditions of work for girls. To secure wholesome recreation for girls. To stimulate faith in the possibilities of life.

Every member is pledged to be friendly to lonely girls in the city and those who are living apart from their families, and to report girls in need of help; or bad conditions in places where they live or work, or find their recreation. She is also required to study the laws relating to health, labor, recreation and protection, and to report violations of these laws. Girls are also encouraged to make suggestions for improving these laws or for securing better enforcement of them.

Some Examples

And to all these things the growing membership list of the League subscribes most earnestly, as a few recent instances will indicate.

There is the case of Alveta, who even now is being supported by the club. Alveta was one of a family of 10 children who were very much neglected by their step-father. The little Long Island cabin where the family lived was most inadequate also, so that on the day that Alveta became 16 she left and came to New York. Here she secured a job in a factory and a tiny room in a miserable boarding house. Although she lived but scantily, her wages could not be taken to stretch over the entire week. Always there was one night when she had to go without dinner. On one of these impoverished evenings, as she was coming home from work, she met another roomer in the house, a Spaniard. The man took the less pocketbook out of her hand, and opened it.

"Only three pennies," he said. "This must be the night you do not dine—unless you go to dinner with me."

Alveta went. So much Alveta owed to the club director herself. The rest of her story was filled in by Camilla, a young Spanish girl, who came to the club one evening and requested help for Alveta. It seemed that after a few months the Spaniard had tired of taking Alveta to dinner and had transferred his attentions to Camilla, who also lived in the rooming house. The man confided the whole affair to the girl and asked her to help him get rid of Alveta by pretending to be very jealous. He also added that he was afraid trouble might come because of Alveta's extreme youth.

Camilla said nothing but inwardly she decided that it would. A half hour later she arrived at the club in great indignation.

"I have seen the girl," she told the director, "and she is very young, and therefore so very stupid. The man, too, is very stupid. He thinks that I, Camilla, would help him desert this child, who is to have a baby."

A Dramatic Rescue
Yet another member of the League saw her chance to rush to the rescue of her sex when she came across a young girl in the midst of a heated argument with a man in a corner of a subway station. Without the slightest compunction, she listened to the conversation and heard enough to convince her that the girl was in serious danger. So, approaching the couple boldly, she asked the girl if she could speak to her a minute.

"Listen," she said, in some embarrassment, as she had never encountered anybody before, "I wouldn't trust this New York guy. If you ain't got any place to go, you can come to our club. It's all right. You can look it up in the telephone book." "But how will I get rid of him?" asked the girl nervously.

"Oh, just leave that to me," said the G. S. L. member. "Say," she exclaimed, walking up to the waiting man, "beat it. This girl's a friend of mine, and I'll tell her father if you don't beat it—quick!"

At the club, the rescued damsel, whose name was Grace, told the director that she was 18 years old, that she had met the man "for the first time that evening, that he had taken her to a chop suey restaurant, and then had asked her to go to a dance hall with him. But when they reached the door of the so-called dance hall, Grace had sense enough to perceive that it was a hotel. So she had turned and fled to the subway station, where the man had followed and argued with her."

Grace, it seemed, was a Philadelphia girl, who had become rebellious of parents' discipline and had packed her suitcase and left home a few days before, after her family had retired for the night. She arrived in New York at 3:45 in the morning, and, calling a taxicab, asked the driver to take her to a hotel. At a moving picture theater the following day she met another older girl named Anna, who took her to a dancing studio. Here Grace had danced with several strange men, and had been instructed by Anna in the art of picking up men who would take her to the theater. Grace had tried it for the first time the night she was found by the G. S. L. member. When Grace's father came for her, after she had been at the club several days, the director was surprised to learn that she was not 18 years old, as she had claimed, but only 14.

Thus, from the foregoing it may be seen that women are not as indifferent to the welfare of their sex as is commonly supposed. As gallantry declines among men, it apparently rises among women. For the ideals of these girls are the ideals of the medieval knight—to rescue weakness and especially the damsel in distress.

Q. Please give some details of Washington's inauguration, G. K.

A. General Washington desired a quiet entry into New York, but his progress was one continuous ovation, accompanied with the ringing of bells and firing of cannon. A civil and military escort from the frontier of Pennsylvania, with Governor Mifflin at the head, met him at his public entrance into Philadelphia. At the point of embarkation to cross the Delaware River women had erected a triumphal arch. At Elizabeth Point, a delegation of both houses of congress met him in a splendid harbor.

Q. How many miles of subway and "L" tracks are there in New York City? T. S.

A. There are over 600 miles of subway and "L" tracks in New York City.

Q. Is there such a thing as a hoop snake? Anxious.

A. There is a small, harmless snake known as a hoop snake, which is found in the south Atlantic states. It is about 18 inches long, with a black and white banding, and a black spot on its head.

SEEK PROMINENT SPEAKER FOR BIG C. OF C. MEETING

Annual Gathering May Be Delayed a Few Days Because of Style Show.

It is possible that the annual meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will be held a few days later than Monday, March 14. At a meeting of directors Thursday noon in the Sherman house it developed that a style show planned by Appleton merchants is to occur that evening with public features. A later date probably will be chosen, somewhere between March 15 and 17.

Secretary Hugh G. Corbett was instructed to obtain one of the best speakers available. The date and speaker will be announced as soon as plans become more definite.

It was agreed that no effort should be spared to make this the biggest meeting of the year. A large banquet room is to be engaged and urgent invitations sent to every member aiming for an attendance close to 100 per cent. Announcement of election results will be the outstanding feature. Five directors are to be chosen out of a list of ten in balloting during the day.

Appleton was the scene of the Phillips Commercial club, Phillips, for a reforestation program in Wisconsin. The matter deals with an appropriation by the legislature for this purpose, in view of the rapid consumption of the state's supply of timber. Some arrangement is wanted by which all cut-over lands not fitted for agriculture will be planted with a second growth of timber.

John Hettinger, a member of the joint committee of the board of education, the chamber and the city council studying the need of a survey, reported on a meeting with C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction. He said the committee had made its recommendations and that it would soon be dismissed.

The finance committee was instructed to engage an accountant to make a report on expenditures of the chamber. Secretary Corbett announced that he is preparing an annual review of the chamber's activities and accomplishments, and would have it ready for the annual meeting.

meeting Friday evening at the Appleton Womens club.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH

I Vow to Use All My Energy in the Creating of a Home

I think I must have turned white for Deb brought me some smelling salts and a pillow before she continued:

"Ann knew you'd be terribly hurt. You know how impulsively she acts. She changed partners, very quickly, and without attracting much attention."

"One can do anything unnoticed at Chang Foot, I suppose," I said bitterly.

"Well, Ann made our people do her bidding. She sent Van off with Kath immediately and steered Bob back to her stall. She took all that trouble to save your feelings, Jane."

"She means to be thoughtful," I admitted.

"And she managed it very neatly, you must admit," Deb urged.

"The trick was like her," I protested. "Of course lies, subterfuge and deception mean nothing to Ann. But I refuse to be consoled by a lie! I'm ruled by my brain. Emotion rules Ann. The truth has nothing whatever to do with her joy in life."

"And you can't be happy without the flat truth. That's why you suffer so," said Deb with a sad smile.

It was after this little talk that I fell ill. I didn't go to bed. I wandered around aimlessly and forlornly. Nobody cared about me—I believed. Once Bob would have called me up by phone just to say a cheering word to me, or I would have called him at his office to let him know whether my head ached. Now that my heart was one big ache, I never called him at all. Because, rightly or wrongly, I was sure to be hurt if I found he was not at his desk, always imagining that he was at lunch, or tea, or riding with the girl with the tawny hair.

At this time, I was passing through the very depths of misery. I tried to hold up my head and smile, but my independence was almost as destructive to my peace as hysteria would have been.

One day I put on a new frock which had just been delivered. I was shocked to see myself in the pretty pink thing. My face was thin and drawn. My own color had vanished.

"Don't deceive yourself any longer," said myself to the worn little face in the glass. "You're on the wrong track. This agonizing over the past, this morbid deprecation, this passive acceptance of your unfortunate domestic relations are simply destroying you. People actually do die of love, sometimes. Their melancholy reacts on their livers, I suppose, and pretty soon their whole organism is out of gear. Can't you have a little sense, Jane Lorimer? Don't let a cheap woman like Katherine Miller destroy you."

I told myself that Bob had not been fair to me, but even so, I had traveled around the circle of my wretchedness long enough. What I needed was a straight path in the future. Said myself to myself:

"I made a contract with Bob a few years ago. Under it, I agreed to do the best that I can under all circumstances 'until death do us part.' And I haven't been doing it. Neither has Bob, but this isn't the time to think of what Bob has failed to do. Bob will always do as he chooses. It is I who must compromise, if we are ever to come together again. My husband's failure to do his share doesn't relieve me of my responsibility as a wife. Hereafter, I'm going to put the last ounce of energy and character in me to the creating of a home."

And I confess that in the weeks of my misery I had lost all my joy in our home. I had turned all the pretty services I formerly had paid our home over to the maid. Bob and I might as well have been living in two rooms in a hotel.

"And there are things I might have sold and did not sell," I quoted to the white face in my mirror.

Olive Roberts Barton

"The Secret Passage."

By Olive Roberts Barton.

"Oh!" cried Nancy pointing to the little white flower in a crystal vase. "Nick, I believe that the flower we brought up here to the sky with us is the wicked old Bobadil Jinn! Don't you smell hyacinth perfume—the kind he always uses?"

Nick and his friend, the Star, who were looking at a Map Nick had brought along in his Box of Charms, looked very much surprised. Then Nick started to sniff. "Indeed I do, Nancy. And see, the flower is moving! I believe it is trying to see our Map!"

But the flower must have heard, for instantly it was still. Also the smell of hyacinth perfume disappeared.

The Star spoke. "I don't think that such a lovely little mountain flower as that could do anything wrong. I've watched it for days and nights, and it seems so sweet and innocent, that surely it cannot be the wicked wizard. Come now, Nick. You, too, Nancy. If you wish to continue your journey to the South Pole, I will show you the way on your Map. There is a secret way under the ground that I have discovered with my sharp eyes, and if you do just what I tell you, you will get to the end of your journey safely. In this way, you may also avoid the Equator, for you can go under it. If your charms get into the sunlight at the Equator they are useless. You also will avoid the desert castle of the wicked Jinn in this way. Now, follow closely the marks I shall make upon your Map."

Nancy was sure that the little white flower stretched out of the vase again as though to see the Map. But the Star went on to tell about the secret passage and she soon forgot all about it.

MATHESON BILL SUPPORTERS IN JUBILANT MOOD

Final Passage of Bone Dry Bill by State Assembly Now is Assured.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
Madison, Wis.—The vote of 52 to 41 by which the "Bone Dry" bill was sent to engrossment in the assembly Thursday practically insures the final passage of the measure as amended, according to the opinion of followers of the legislature for years.
As has been predicted the original bill was amended to provide that should congress make a new definition of intoxicating liquor, increasing the alcoholic content from 1.2 per cent. that definition will prevail in Wisconsin; and providing the manufacture of beer or other beverages to first, under permit, manufacture a liquid containing more than the legal content of alcohol, which is to be reduced in the course of manufacture to the legal requirement. The only other amendment adopted was correcting a mere typographical error.
The real fight before the assembly was on an amendment offered by Assemblyman Cook, of Marathon county, to eliminate the twenty-fifth section of the bill, which it was claimed, gave the enforcement officials more power than has ever been granted any official of the state. The section reads:

Section 1569-25. 1. The commissioner or any of his deputies or any district attorney may examine under oath any person whom they believe has knowledge of any violation of Sections 1569-1 to 1569-24, inclusive, of the entire bill wherever they may find such person. Any person examined in such manner shall upon request of the examiner sign a statement in writing containing in whole or in part the testimony of such person.

2. Any person so examined refusing to answer any question put to him by the examiner, or refusing to sign any such statement, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefore shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed $200 besides the cost of the prosecution, and in default of payment of such fine and cost shall be imprisoned in the county jail until such fine and costs are paid but not to exceed thirty days.

3. The statements or testimony of any person examined under the provisions of sub-section 1 of this section, shall not be used against him in any criminal prosecution.

The proposed amendment was argued for more than one hour, Assemblyman Matheson defending the bill as it had been printed, while those provisions as most vicious. When it was finally put to a vote the assembly by a vote of 47 to 43 refused to reject the amendment and five minutes later on the motion to adopt the amendment the vote resulted in a tie, 47 to 47 and was lost.
A final effort to kill the bill when it is taken up for final passage next week will be made, it was learned today, and both sides are again lining up their forces to be sure that there is no slip when it is called up again.

BADGER COMPANY GETS BIG DRAINAGE CONTRACT

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.—The Dredging company is getting work under way on a $1,100,000 dredging contract in the North Star river drainage district near Fort Pierce, Fla., where the company has one dredge at work and is shipping another. The local company is working on the contract with the Canal Construction company of Memphis, Tenn., both concerns keeping large crews at work.
The contract will mean the excavation of 6,000,000 cubic yards of dirt which will be dug at the rate of about 100,000 yards a month.
Paul Arpin is one of the local men who is at work on the job, while there are a number of other local men who make up the dredging crews. The dredges are some of the largest excavators in use and were made by the Arpin company, which holds the patents on them. They weigh 150 tons and require five cars to carry the parts. They are of the walking type and walk about a mile a day with favorable digging. The Arpin company is also figuring on some other extensive drainage contracts in the south.

NOISY WITNESS CHASED FROM COMMITTEE ROOM

By United Press Leased Wire.
Madison—Louis Peterlens, Milwaukee, was ejected from an assembly committee room by Assemblyman F. J. Peterson, Milwaukee, after he had challenged the veracity of Miss Maud Neprud, member of the state board of control, the most important office in the state held by a woman.
Miss Neprud was testifying against a bill which would permit Mrs. M. Peterlens to conduct a foundling home. While delivering her statement, Miss Neprud was interrupted by Mrs. Peterlens' son.
"I challenge those statements. Say you're not to prove them," demanded Peterlens.
"You can't say that in here. Get out," shouted Peterson who is chairman of the committee.
Peterson started for Peterlens and Peterson for the door. The latter won the race.
The bill was called up immediately.

RAIL COMMISSION EXPLAINS ITS ACTS

Commissioner Jackson Makes Favorable Impression in Assembly Hearing.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
Madison, Wis.—Commissioner Carl D. Jackson, of the railroad commission, made a most favorable impression upon the members of the legislature when examined under the interpellation proceedings before that house Thursday afternoon in the Milwaukee gas case.
Chairman Jackson spoke for nearly two hours in answer to the questions which had been submitted to the commission, and then was cross-examined by Attorney A. C. Umbreit, of Milwaukee, who was assisted by Assistant City Attorney Mathison, Mayor Hoan and the city's expert, Hogarth, formerly employed by the commission.
Mr. Jackson went into the most minute detail in his explanations of the action of the commission and declared that someone, intimating it is the company, by reason of the present industrial and economic conditions which were not foreseen when the recent decision was made increasing the gas rate 20 per cent, will lose approximately $400,000.
The cross-examination was a battle of wits between the clever lawyers. Mr. Umbreit attempted time and again to get Mr. Jackson to contradict himself or to make various admissions, but the commissioner, himself an experienced lawyer, weighed his answers carefully, much to the disgust of the Milwaukee attorney.
Although members of the assembly were somewhat curious as to the proceedings at first, before Mr. Jackson had completed his original argument many of them left the chamber, declaring that the matter was a Milwaukee controversy in which the state at large was not necessarily interested.

POLICE BAFFLED BY NEW DISAPPEARANCE

Sheboygan—A strange coincidence connected with the sudden disappearance Sunday afternoon of Frank E. Schultz of Milwaukee, who came here to visit his wife's parents over the week, was the disappearance of Emil Breitman, former bartender of the Franklin house of Sheboygan Falls. Breitman, according to Marshal Edward George of Sheboygan Falls, left a saloon about two miles north of that city at 2:26 Sunday afternoon to take an interurban car to the city, and has not been seen since.

Marshal George does not believe that the two disappearances have any connection, but grave fears of the safety of both men are entertained.

Kaukauna News Notes

ASK FOR VOTE ON PROPOSITION TO BUILD NEW SCHOOL

Kaukauna's School Problem Is Acute—Junior High School Is Wanted.

Kaukauna.—The regular meeting of the Kaukauna school board was held Wednesday evening in the First National bank. A resolution was passed petitioning the council to consider bonding the city for a sum of $200,000 for a new junior high school. It was asked that the question be placed before the voters at the spring election.

The lack of a new educational building in the city has caused much difficulty in the last few years. The number of children who advance further in their education has been increasing every year with the result that practically every school in Kaukauna is crowded. The junior high school will, it is expected, relieve both the high school and the grade schools of some of their burden by taking the seventh and eighth grades and the first two years of the high school into the junior school.

The present enrollment of the high school is 192 students and the building will comfortably hold only about 125 people. Two rooms that should be used by the grades of the Park school have been taken over as class rooms for the high school, and two grades of the Park school have been forced to use rooms in the training school.

Between 25 and 35 students of the high school have their desks in the commercial room and on the freshman side of the assembly room nearly every seat accommodates two students. Teachers maintain that no standard of efficiency can be maintained under such conditions.

Conditions in Nicolet school are just as serious. J. J. Haas, principal of the school, has said that a new building must be built or an addition will have to be made on the Nicolet school. As it is now, one of the classrooms is divided into two sections, one section reciting in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

According to those most interested in the educational affairs of the city, people have neglected to take action because of the increase in taxes which they were sure would result. Statistics compiled by Lee G. Schussmann, city superintendent of schools, show that the amount of money spent for schools is only 22 cents of every dollar raised by taxation, while in most cities the schools receive the bulk of the money raised by taxes. The supporters of new educational buildings maintain that if the city spends what it should on the schools and less for improvements that have to be repeated year after year, the taxes will not be materially raised when the time comes to pay for the new building.

Now that action has been taken by the school board it is quite certain that the public will vote on the bond issue at the coming election.

The fixtures of the American Express office are being moved into a building next to Feller's hardware store. The office will be opened for business in the new location by Monday. The old office will be remodeled and redecorated by J. A. Mertes who will move his barber shop into it in a few weeks.

W. E. Reynolds of Green Bay, an architect, was in the city Wednesday surveying the site for the proposed new municipal building, and getting such elevations as are necessary in the making of the final building plans. His purpose was also to get a technical description of the plot to submit to the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal Co. so that the company can prepare a deed. The land is the property of the canal company.

Mr. Reynolds said that he would have the plans ready about March 20. At that time the council will call for bids for the construction of the building.

Kaukauna Society
Miss Mabel Hamilton was surprised Wednesday evening at her home, Desnoyer-st., by 20 friends. The event was a character party and the guests came dressed appropriately for the occasion. Games were played. A three course supper was served at 11 o'clock.

At seven o'clock Tuesday morning Miss Adelaide Minkbeige of Kaukauna, became the bride of Leo Baten of Riceville, Iowa. The marriage ceremony was performed by Father P. J. Lockmann. Miss Frances Minkbeige, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Lester Van Roy was the groom's attendant.

The bride was attired in a brown tulle dress with hat to match and carried a prayer book and rosary. The bridesmaid wore a blue tulle dress and a hat of the same color.

A reception and wedding dinner for many friends at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The bridal couple left at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for Riceville, Iowa, where they will make

KAUKAUNA ENTERED IN GIRLS CAGE TOURNEY

The girls basketball team of the high school will go to Seymour Friday to participate in a tournament between girls teams from northeastern Wisconsin. The schools represented are Kaukauna, Seymour, West Green Bay, Marion, Hortonville, Wrightstown, Little Chute, Shiocton, Tigerton, Denmark, DePere. The event will be held Friday and Saturday and will determine the champion team of the section.

The following girls will represent Kaukauna: Lorraine Thelen, captain, Ada Grebe, Olive Jacobson, Odana Hohneman, Helen Guilfoyle, Mildred Kern and Martha Van Abel. The Seymour girls will entertain during the tournament.

Circular letters have been sent to the high schools of this county and nearby counties from the training school asking them to participate in a girls and boys basketball tournament to be held at Kaukauna in the next three or four weeks. Letters were sent to 15 schools. The plan is to stimulate interest in the game and to provide excitement and enthusiasm in determining which team is entitled to championship honors. Replies will be expected within the next few days.

The volleyball match between two societies of the training school, the Aurelia and the Lincoln, resulted in a victory for the Aurelia. The scores were 21 to 12 to 21 to 19. The Aurelia society challenged the Lincoln society to a game and it was played off Tuesday afternoon in the school gymnasium.

their home. They will stop in Fort Atkinson for a short visit.

Misses Mildred Kern and Lucile Smith were the hostesses at the meeting of the Camp Fire girls Wednesday evening in the high school. A short business meeting was held after which a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. David Kittel entertained a few friends at her home Wednesday evening. Music furnished entertainment after which lunch was served.

The regular meeting of Sacred Heart Court No. 555 of the Lady Catholic Order of Foresters was held Thursday evening in south side Forester hall. Regular business was transacted.

Mrs. Jeff LaPointe returned Thursday to Milwaukee, after a visit with relatives in Kaukauna.

Alice Jirkowicz, who submitted to an operation on her arm at Deaconess hospital in Green Bay, is recovering nicely.

Catlin Wants To "Get Even" With Senators

Attorney Mark Catlin, who represents the First district of Outagamie county in the state assembly in Madison, is seeking revenge for the rebuff given the assembly by the state senate. He doesn't want to jeopardize the welfare of the state by taking this revenge on the floor of the legislature so he is organizing a bowling team which will challenge Senator Denhardt's champions.

The senatorial rebuff was administered when the upper house refused to concur in a resolution providing for adjournment from last Saturday until Wednesday in order to pay proper homage to George Washington's birthday.

Catlin, who is no mean bowler, says there is enough talent among the assemblymen to wipe the alleys with the toga wearers. At any rate the legislators who are noted for their noise making powers, will stage a noisy if not skillful battle.

CALL MEETING TO PLAN CATHOLIC MONEY DRIVE

Plans for the million dollar drive for funds for Catholic institutions will be laid at a meeting in Green Bay March 1, according to Gustave Keller, campaign chairman of the diocese. Deans and lay chairmen of the 14 deaneries of the diocese will attend, including the Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice and Stephen Balliet of this city. This will be the first official meeting of the newly organized deaneries. The date of the campaign is also to be fixed at this meeting.

Healthy Young Womanhood

THE tendency to constipation begins with girls as they approach maturity, and that is the very time the mothers should watch that the important function of daily elimination is regular and normal.

Many thousands of mothers who have daughters will tell you they give only Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A teaspoonful is sufficient to relieve constipation and its commoner symptoms such as headache, bad breath, biliousness, loss of appetite and restless sleep.

Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Pepsin, Sena and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics, and a sixty-cent bottle is enough for many months. Eight million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale of the kind in the world.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market thirty years and there must be genuine merit behind it to develop so large and steady a sale. Buy a bottle today and you will quickly see why it is so popular.

HILL IS EAGER TO MEET MARTINSON IN RETURN MATCH

Wrestling Stars Probably Will Be Booked for Either March 8 or 9.

George Hill, who suffered his first defeat in many months when he was thrown by Paul Martinson, Chicago, in the Armory G Wednesday night, is eager for a return match with the big Dane and is willing to wager a part of his savings that he can throw the big fellow. Hill, not much the worse for his hard fall, resumed training Friday morning and will keep at it until Martinson comes here for another trial.

An effort is being made to match the men for March 8 or 9. Martinson said just before he left Appleton he would be willing to give Hill another chance, remarking that any man showing as much gameness as the local grappler is entitled to a return bout any time.

In all probability records for attendance will be broken when the men get together again. They put up a real scrap in their first meeting. Hill's speed more than offset his opponent's superior size and strength and the first fall demonstrated that even the biggest men are not immune from the headlock. Hill plans to develop that hold between now and the date for the match, working out new ways at applying it and of exerting more pressure. He figures Martinson undoubtedly will have a new defense ready when they meet again.

It is probable Hill will meet Henry Stoeff, Oshkosh, here as a feature of the Lawrence-University of Indiana contest March 4. Stoeff has made a lot of noise about preventing Hill from throwing him twice in an hour and Hill wants to show that he can make a monkey out of the Oshkosh man.

LAWRENCE TAKES ON MARQUETTE CAGEMEN

Lawrence college basketball team will wind up its season Saturday night with the Carroll game in Waukegan. The contest originally was scheduled for Friday evening but was postponed one day. Lawrence immediately booked Marquette university, Milwaukee, for the open date and those teams will clash tonight.

Marquette has made a splendid record this year, defeating nearly all comers, including Notre Dame.

Carroll also has been strengthened since its game here and probably will give Lawrence a real tussle. Christlan, Carroll center, is one of the best basketball men in the state. A victory over Carroll will put Lawrence in the running for a tie for the state title. Carroll, however, must defeat Ripon in the last conference game to make this possible.

NEW CANDIDATES ARE SEEKING BOARD JOBS

The final session of the present county board will open at the courthouse next Tuesday and will close the following Saturday. Accounts will be allowed and other routine business disposed of. According to reports from various towns in the county there will be several changes on the board at the coming spring election. So far as is known no women have announced themselves as candidates for supervisors either in Appleton or the county at large.

Lewis Wins Again

Rochester, N. Y.—Ed. Lewis, forbid the use of his favorite headlock last night in his match with Dick Davidcourt at convention hall, fell back on a few of the old reliables in the wrestling game and dug up enough holds to beat the Texan in two straight falls.

INDIANA HAS EDGE ON LOCAL MATMEN

March 4 Will See First Intercollegiate Wrestling Match in Appleton.

Washington is not the only city in the country which will celebrate March 4 as an inauguration day. Appleton also will be the witness of a big event, the inauguration of when collegiate wrestling in the city when Indiana university, intercollegiate champions of 1920, with a record of two years without a single defeat, will meet the Lawrence college team in the armory. This is not the first year Lawrence has had the mat game as an intercollegiate sport but last year the Blue and White team met the university teams away from Appleton and this will be the first time that the local public will be able to see an intercollegiate meet.

The fact that the visitors will enter the meet as overwhelming favorites will not detract from the interest in the event as the Blue and White teams this year have made it a habit to spring the unexpected, as both the football and basketball seasons clearly show. Indiana has the advantage of meeting first class opposition from university teams in all of the meets this season while the Lawrentians have met only local teams which have depended more upon their strength than upon their skill to hold the Lawrence men.

COUNTY BOARD WANTS TO FOLLOW ROAD COMMITTEE

From now on the secretary of the county, state road and bridge committee will be required to get out 40 copies of the proceedings of the meetings of the committee which will be distributed among members of the county board so that they can keep posted on the work being done in that department. No road contracts will be awarded until sometime next month.

INTERLAKES MEET GREEN BAY QUINT

Pulp Mill Team Made Splendid Showing in Long Trip Last Week.

What promises to be an excellent basketball game will be played in Armory G Saturday evening when the Pulp Mill G Saturday evening when the Green Bay City five, a newly organized team of former high school and college stars will mix with the Interlake team. The Interlakes played five games on the road last week in which they met the best teams in the upper part of the state. While they lost three of the five contests the only decisive defeat handed them was by the fast legion team of Ironwood, Mich., which won by a 33 to 7 score. This was due partly to the fact that the team traveled all the night before.

The following night the Interlakes defeated the Odanah Indians by a 23 to 18 score, and Odanah is one of the two Wisconsin teams which has defeated Ironwood this season. Several games remain to be played on the Interlake schedule, among them being the Horlicks of Racine, a return game with the Odanah Indians in Appleton, Co. E of Fond du Lac and several others.

As a preliminary to Saturday evening's game, Bushey's team of girls will play a picked team of girl players in this part of the valley.

CRISP CURRENCY IS NOT SO PLENTIFUL NOW

Crisp currency fresh from Uncle Sam's presses is not largely circulated these days, bankers say. The federal reserve banks have placed a ban on new currency as well as loans for speculative purposes. This makes it unnecessary to issue as much currency.

Frequently limp bills are renovated, disinfected and returned to the banks instead of new currency. Some stores followed the customs of handing clean bills to their customers, but the usual supply is now harder to obtain. It is not the fear of germs but the novelty of new money that attracted people.

CANNOT REMEMBER A WELL DAY IN 15 YEARS

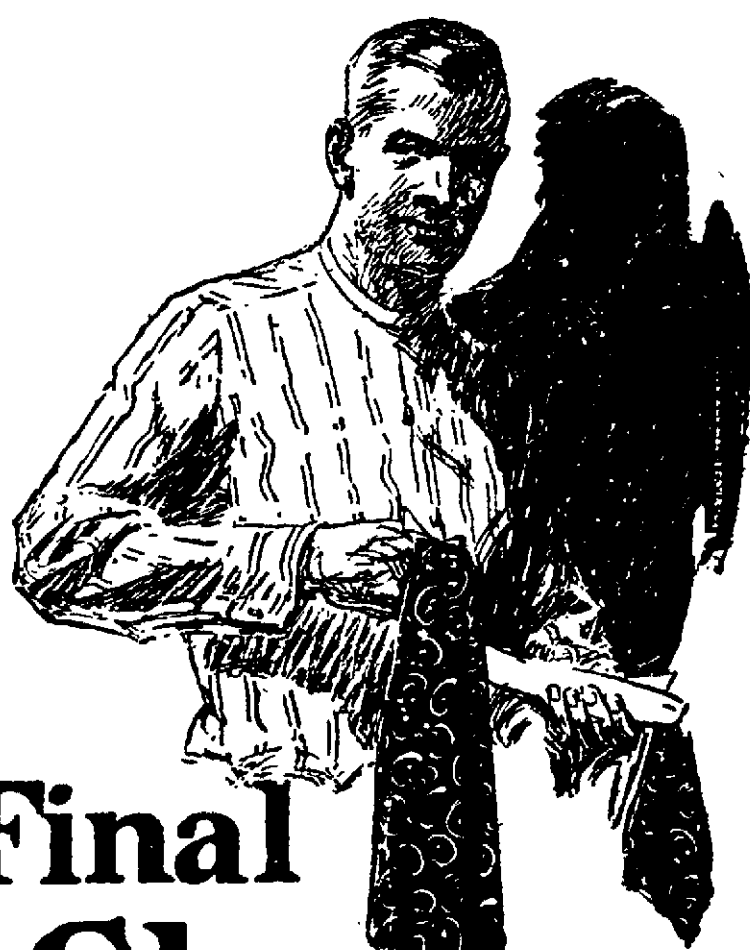

Milwaukee Woman, Again Well and Happy, Says She Never Expected to Enjoy Such Good Health as Tanlac Has Given Her.

"It's enough to make anyone happy," said Mrs. Clara Casperson, 865 Kin-nickinnic Ave., Milwaukee, while telling of her recovery by taking Tanlac, "to be enjoying such splendid health after suffering for fifteen years. "I didn't expect to ever be in good health again, for I had suffered so long that my case seemed beyond reach of everything. I can't remember a single day when I was not in a nervous strain, restless and trembly and my back ached something awful. My appetite was extremely poor and the little I ate seemed to do me more harm than good. "It was the hardest thing in the world for me to get to sleep and lots of nights I did not rest at all hardly. In the morning I was so weak and faintly when I got up that if I tried to stand up I would fall down. All day long life was just a drag and it just seemed that there was no hope for me.

"But it's a different story with me now. I'm glad to say. Tanlac is certainly a grand medicine and I just think it is wonderful the way it has restored my health after all these long years of suffering. My appetite is splendid, my nerves are steady and I just feel so well and strong it seems almost too good to be true. I sleep perfectly sound and my housework does not tire me one bit. I just can't tell how grateful I feel and I will praise Tanlac to my dying day."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt; F. O. Brown, Shiocton; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale; R. E. Lowell, Little Chute. adv.

ACCIDENTS CAUSE OF CHILD DEATHS

Red Cross Shows Appalling Figures of Needless Deaths Each Year.

Twenty thousand children between the ages of one and fourteen years are killed by accident in the United States annually, reports received from the central division by the Outagamie Red Cross chapter show. A careful analysis of causes has been made by the American Red Cross and measures are being advocated to reduce this number. Lessons in first aid and safety are the foremost activities.

Accidents caused more deaths of children from 10 to 14 years in 12 months than all epidemic diseases including measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria. The percentage from accidents was 17.7 per cent, from diseases, 17 per cent; for tuberculosis caused 8.5 per cent of deaths from five to nine years, while accidents caused 16.7 per cent. Tuberculosis took 14.2 per cent of those between ten and fourteen years.

The leading accidental causes of death in childhood are burns, falls, automobile and other vehicular accidents and injuries, drowning and poisoning. Deaths from burns among children under five years totalled 40 per cent. More than 4,500 children under 15 were killed by automobiles and other means of conveyance.

First aid instruction in swimming has reduced the number of drownings from 10,000 to 5,000 annually. This and other courses are being introduced in public schools everywhere. A Red Cross life saving contest was recently conducted here among boy scouts.

HOLD SAENGERFEST HERE JULY 16-17

O. W. Schaefer Appoints Sheboygan Man as Secretary. First Since 1916.

O. W. Schaefer, president of the East Wisconsin Saengerbund, is making arrangements of the annual saengerfest in Appleton July 16 and 17. He has appointed Joseph M. Theisen, Sheboygan, as secretary to succeed Herman Schoemaker, Marinette, who resigned.

This is the first saengerfest of the organization since the one in 1916 in Green Bay. Appleton was then selected as the next meeting place, but meetings were postponed on account of the war.

All cities formerly in the membership will be notified by Mr. Theisen to take part this year. These include Sheboygan, three societies; Manitowish, two societies; one each from the following cities: Two Rivers, Green Bay, Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Kiel, Plymouth, New Holstein, Chilton, Marinette, Hartford, Port Washington, Ashland, Medford, Marshfield, Wausau and Merrill.

Eczema Caused Years of Intense Agony

"I have suffered intense agony from eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of eczema or itching. You can refer to me."—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I've got a hundred testimonials says Peterson of Buffalo just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for 35 cents, and I am still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows.

"I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for eczema, salt rheum, piles, ulcers, skin diseases chafing, burns, scalds and sunburn, and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money." Mail orders filed by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. adv.

WIS. DRUGGIST CONVINCED OF KOZAK'S MERIT

No other medicine ever introduced in Appleton has proven quite as successful, or gained so many actual testimonials to its astonishing powers over stomach, kidney and Catarrhal ile, as has Kozak, the $10.00 Formula.

Write what one leading druggist has to say about Kozak: "Kozak has merit—this has been proven—because no one so far has asked us to refund their money," writes M. C. Whitrock, of the Sam Church Drug Store, leading druggist of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., on Feb. 18, 1921. "They have, however, in almost every instance, returned for a second bottle. Kozak is sure coming to the front fast. Enclosed find another testimonial.

Kozak, the Master Medicine, sold by Schlitz Bros. Drug Store; Kaukauna, Kaukauna Drug Co., New London, Spearbraker; Hortonville, Gitter; Neenah, Marsh; Seymour, McCord.

I want to Announce

These Men will Act as Judges

PROF. R. C. MULLENIX

City Editor Post-Crescent

have agreed to act as judges. The contest lasts thirty days. The prizes I am giving away will be on display the entire time. Even though you purchase a DALION Phonograph and are the fortunate contestant, the full purchase price will be allowed.

The Instrument of Exquisite Tone

Frequent tests have been made in other places where the DALION has competed with five other standard makes. The judge has been blindfolded and asked to select the instrument with the richest, mellowest tone quality. The DALION has invariably been chosen. It reproduces every subtle shade of famous voice or difficult instrument. Its instrumentized construction contributes a perfection of tone unparalleled by any other phonograph.

Plays Any Make of Record

Without the aid of any extra attachments, the DALION plays all recorded music,—plays any disc record with equal charm and incomparable tone. The instrumentized Tone Throat and Orchestra Shell Tone Chamber are designed according to the most advanced knowledge of instrument acoustics; hand shaped and made entirely of seasoned violin wood.

Guarantee Bond with Each Instrument

The silent, multi-spring, long-running motor is guaranteed against spring breakage. This guarantee is a part of the bond to which the manufacturer's corporate seal is affixed:

"It is the further spirit of this guarantee to protect the owner from the repair cost of all main spring breakage within one year's proper use of this instrument. We therefore expect to repair or replace free of cost all such parts sent to us."

Every Modern Advantage

An automatic record stop stops the motor at the last note of the record. The auto-file compartment—an exclusive DALION feature—consists of a series of neat sections, each section holding two record compartments. The section tilts forward to deliver its record and no other section can be pulled out until the first one has been pushed back in place. Other features of equal value make the DALION the most popular instrument wherever it is introduced.

Come Hear It Play

This free contest is simply my way of advertising the DALION Phonograph. I am determined to become the biggest phonograph dealer in this section. Whether or not you own a phonograph now, you are eligible to participate in this contest. Bring your friends. Bring any record you want played. Then make comparison with any phonograph on the market. Be sure and enter the contest.

OSHKOSH FROLIC TO BE BIG EVENT

Nearly 500 Moose Are Expected to Attend Gathering
Next Sunday.

Between four and five hundred Moose from every section of Wisconsin, including about a dozen from Appleton, will attend quarterly frolic of the Fox River Valley legion of Moose, heart legion in Oshkosh next Sunday. This was the first frolic in Oshkosh in the two years of the valley legion's existence.

An effort will be made to bring the next frolic to Appleton, probably next May. It is expected local membership will be largely increased by that time.

Festivities in Oshkosh will open with a business session at 10 o'clock.

Covers will be laid for several hundred guests at the banquet in Moose hall at 5:30. The real fun begins after the dinner, featured by several numbers of high class vaudeville. Local actors also will present stunts.

Among the officers to be installed is E. W. Bates of Appleton, who was elected east Moose at the last meeting.

The Oshkosh frolic will be the first at which members from all over the state will be in attendance. It is probable the supreme lodge at Mooseheart, Ill., will be represented by one or more officers.

TEXAS FARMERS ARE WAITING FOR RAIN

"We are having a few days of cool weather," said Lindsay Waters of Kingsville, Texas formerly of Appleton, in a letter to John C. Ryan. "It was close to a frost this morning (Feb. 20), so you people must be getting a taste of it I suppose. Otherwise we have had more than usually mild winter and everything is far advanced. Roses and sweet peas are in blossom. Vegetables are up, but the ground is very dry. We need a heavy rain badly."

"Marie is out with her aunt, former Miss Marie Morrow, and her husband to see what the oil well has developed since yesterday. Drilling is again at an interesting stage, and the driller of course is confident of bringing in a gusher. He has been in oil sand for several days, but has had to wait for special tools."

"Of course you have heard we have gas piped into town. A large number

BOTTLE OF NITRO SCARES OFF COPS

George Spencer Tells How Chicago Bandit Got Away From Police.

George Spencer, who is training a string of horses at Libertyville, Ill., was in Appleton Wednesday in search of a chief for a camp which he intends to establish for his force of employees. In commenting on the two men arrested with burglar tools and nitro-glycerine in their possession, he said that it was only a few days ago that a desperate Chicago character made the sheriff and chief of police of Libertyville lay down their weapons after they had ordered him to hold up his hands.

The bandit had his hands in his overcoat pocket when ordered to throw them up and in one of them he had a bottle of nitro-glycerine. He ordered the officers to lay their revolvers on the table or he would drop the bottle and required them to do it instantly. They did as they were ordered and he then made them march ahead of him some distance in the country, threatening to explode the glycerine if they did not do as they were told. After getting a safe distance from the city he ordered them to face about and retrace their steps without looking back which they were only too glad to do. He then made his escape.

BEG PARDON

Appleton fish dealers over the Post-Crescent erred in its statement that fish prices are lowest in years. It was said the prices quoted were for rough fish which are not handled in the local markets. Prices of the quality of fish sold here are considerably higher than those quoted.

War Veterans Ready For Opening Of Membership Drive Monday Morning

Parade Saturday Night Will
Mark Opening of Effort to Enroll
Every Service Man in Oney
Johnston Post of American Legion.

Forces were mobilized at an enthusiastic meeting of about 75 members of the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion in Elk hall Thursday evening for the membership drive opening Monday. Each worker was loaded with a barrage of reasons for joining the Legion such as few former service men out of the 600 desired can well refute.

Edgar Schommer, campaign chairman, presided and told the division chairmen and committeemen what was expected of them. They were assigned their respective territories and told to canvass every mill, factory and business house in Appleton to obtain the names of former service men, soldiers, sailors and marines. A membership of not less than 100 per cent must be obtained, they were told.

Monday will be the "zero hour." Each worker is expected to go over the top, expecting victory, not defeat. Their activities are to be centered on delinquent members of the post as well as those who have not joined. Daily reports are to be submitted to the division captains so the progress of the battle can be reported to the commanding chairman.

What Legion Means
Men will be asked to join the legion because of what it stands for. The main argument, and what workers expect will be the main inducement, will be the preamble of the legion constitution. It is brief and to the point, setting a standard that every true American will subscribe to, especially those who served in the world war. It reads:

"For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the anarchy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

Have Headquarters
A temporary headquarters structure is to be erected Saturday on the city parking lot, corner Onida and Washington-sts. One of the campaigners will be on duty at all times commencing Saturday evening. The aim is to provide a convenient place for 1920 members to pay their dues for the coming year, and for new men to hand in their memberships without being solicited. The float used in the parade will be placed beside the headquarters building. Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be the special days for renewing former memberships.

A grand spectacle will be presented in the street parade at 8:30 Saturday evening. It will be headed by the Ninth Regiment band. Next will come the gorgeous illuminated float that has been in preparation for about 10 days. Automobiles containing workers and members of the post will follow. College-ave. will be lighted with flares while the parade is on. Chairman Schommer has asked all post members to assemble at Elk hall at 7:45 Saturday evening. Enough automobiles will be on hand to accommodate all.

Miss Irene McCarty of Green Bay is a guest of Miss Kate Hodgins, 1132 Fifth street.
